Star Of The Moment

Miss Teen Mundial Western Cape 2026

A Western Province Equestrian athlete, radio presenter, Miss Teen Mundial Western Cape 2026, Youth ambassador, philanthropist, professional model, cutting - edge leader, and gifted horse rider. A 13 year old girl who is doing grade 7 at Laerskool Hugo Rust in Wellington and she is living her dreams to the fullest.

Lienke Uys is a community builder, world shaker, earth mover, and game changer. She is a living proof of this philosophy. She walks the talk. Our superstar model can selflessly give her spare time to do charity activities. As a youth ambassador for Red Cross Children's Hospital Trust, youth ambassador for Badisa, and a youth Champion for the Mission to Seafarers, she has supported organisations and initiatives, including operation smile, MES Bellville, community feeding projects, blanket drives, shoe and stationery drives, and mentoring younger girls.

Her vision is to equip youngsters with vital skills and knowledge that can bring out the best version of themselves. The main objective is to build a better future by having youths who can make a difference in their youthfulness without waiting to reach adulthood.

In her outreach journey, she managed to organise free meals to feed children at Elnor Primary School. She worked with organisations such as Mission to Seafarers and Tiana-Leigh Lung Foundation doing charity work. Also, this gem took it upon herself to be an advocate of body positivity and mental health because a lot of girls are suffering from the issue of body shaming. She is a mentor or coach who is teaching young girls about self - esteem, confidence, and self - awareness.

" Being in a competition with these phenomenal and gifted young ladies was not easy like walking in the park.I was privileged to meet amazing and talented models who inspired me to work so hard day and night. I pulled through and did my best until I reached to the top. Today, I am proudly to announce that I am a Miss Teen Mundial Western Cape 2026.

I thank God for my biological mother who discovered my gift when I was a toddler. My mother did not hesitate to enroll me for modelling classes. I was a toddler, and everything I have achieved in my life up to this current day, I could not make it alone. There are many hands that contributed to my ultimate success. It might be my family members, friends and fans, mentors, the list is endless. I salute you for believing my dreams," she says.

Last words

Stay humble, be yourself, make friends, and respect everyone you meet along the way because no one knows about tomorrow.

Destined For Success

Being a model is one of the greatest gifts which only a few individuals possess. This is the major reason why we have got a small percentage of models in our towns. As Model Guide magazine, we are very excited this month to feature another talented and beautiful gem whose name is Marguerite de Villiers who managed to catapult her dreams into reality. She is a professional model who was mentored and groomed at ACE Models, Winelands. Recently, she was crowned as Miss Pre-Teen Universe South Africa Western Cape 2026.

Modelling is not just walking like a duck. A professional and seasonal model must have the ability to display skills, confidence, and excellence on the stage. This is a very critical technique that is expected from professional models so that they can be able to market their brand name very well.

One may ask, "how is it possible that other students are able to balance their school work, doing charity work and modelling at the same time?" Well, the answer is simple as evidently exhibited by Marguerite de Villiers. She is a 13-year-old who is doing grade 7 at Huguenote Primary School. The sky has no limit, everyone has the same capacity to excel into higher dimensions. The real question I can ask you is that, are you willing to pay the price for you to attain your goals?

If you could go back and tell yourself one thing before beginning your modelling career, what would it be?

Work hard and do not panic – everything will be alright.

What is your greatest lesson in your modelling career so far?

Modelling is all about people. You cannot be a model in your own world. You need people who can come to watch you on the stage, people who can support or sponsor your craftwork, people who can market your brand or speak on your behalf when you are not around. I have learned to value men in my life regardless of their current status, age, or qualifications.

Do you think education is very important to models?

Definitely, yes! Education gives you knowledge, confidence, and choices for your future. I love modelling, but I strongly believe that education should always be a priority.

CHOOSE YOUR OWN STYLE

By Kudakwashe Muganu

At just 14 years old, Siarra De Lange is embracing the world of pageantry while using her platform to inspire young girls and make a difference in her community. A Grade 8 learner at Linkside High School in Port Elizabeth, Eastern Cape, South Africa, Siarra describes herself as kind, passionate and hardworking.

Her journey into modelling began with a childhood love for dressing up, fashion and makeup. Encouraged by her mother, who was also a model when she was younger, Siarra discovered that pageantry could help her develop confidence and believe in herself.

Speaking about entering Miss Preteen Universe Eastern Cape 2026, Siarra revealed that her main motivation was to gain experience, meet new people and enjoy walking on stage. She worked hard to secure sponsors for her dresses and competition expenses.

Her crowning moment came as a surprise. "I didn't think I would be crowned something because I didn't go there to win something, I went to have fun and meet new friends," she shared.

Beyond pageantry, Siarra enjoys playing netball and tennis, spending time with friends and family, riding her bicycle and playing with her animals.

One of the most meaningful aspects of her journey is her charity initiative at MTR Smit Haven. Every Tuesday, she visits the children's home, where she models with the children, spends time with them and encourages them to express themselves confidently. She also supports efforts to donate old clothes.

Family remains an important pillar of her journey. Reflecting on her support system, Siarra said:

"My mother has made me believe in myself and she has got sponsors for competitions I've done and she is just always there for me. She supports my every decision but also my stepfather. They both go out their way to be able to get or give the things I want."

Looking ahead, Siarra hopes to grow in modelling, represent South Africa internationally and inspire young girls. Outside pageantry, she dreams of becoming a doctor so she can help others.

Her advice to aspiring young models is simple: believe in yourself, take that first step and never let fear stop you from pursuing your dreams.

For Siarra, a crown represents more than beauty; it is an opportunity to inspire, serve and encourage others to recognise their potential.

Miss Charm Namibia 2026

Hertha lipinge Set to Represent Namibia on the International Stage

Namibia is set to shine on the international pageant stage as Hertha lipinge takes on the prestigious title of Miss Charm Namibia 2026.

Hertha lipinge is stepping into the international spotlight with a pageant journey that has already seen her compete on several notable platforms in Namibia. As Miss Charm Namibia 2026, she will carry the country's name and flag onto an international stage while using her platform to advocate for issues affecting women and girls.

A Journey Built Through Pageantry
Hertha's journey in pageantry has been developing over several years. She was crowned Miss IUM 2023, before going on to become 2nd Runner-Up at Miss Outapi 2024.

She later earned a place among the Top 10 finalists at Miss Namibia 2025, further establishing herself as a familiar face in Namibia's beauty and pageant industry.

Her experiences across different competitions have given her an opportunity to develop her confidence, communication skills and stage presence—qualities that will be important as she prepares for the Miss Charm international competition.

Beyond the crown and the glamour, Hertha is also an educator, model and advocate for youth empowerment.

Her platform, "Her Dignity, Her Future," focuses on empowering women and young girls. Through the initiative, she seeks to raise awareness around issues including menstrual dignity, gender-based violence and the importance of creating safe and supportive environments for young women.

Her advocacy reflects the growing role of modern pageantry, where contestants are increasingly expected to use their visibility to highlight social causes and inspire positive change within their communities.

Namibia has been building a presence at Miss Charm in recent years. Georgia Garises made history as Namibia's first representative at Miss Charm in 2024, reaching the Top 10 of the competition.

In 2025, Alica Mokhatu represented Namibia at Miss Charm. The University of Namibia psychology student used her international platform to promote mental-health awareness through her initiative, Empowering Young Voices.

Hertha lipinge now becomes the latest Namibian woman to take up the challenge, continuing the country's developing relationship with the Miss Charm competition. Representing Namibia on the International Stage

For Hertha, the Miss Charm Namibia 2026 title represents an opportunity to showcase more than beauty.

She will have the chance to introduce international audiences to Namibian culture, identity and the stories of its young women, while also promoting the causes that are important to her.

Her journey will also be closely followed by Namibian pageant fans who will be hoping to see her build on the country's previous performances at Miss Charm.

From Miss IUM 2023 to Miss Outapi 2024, Miss Namibia 2025 Top 10, and now Miss Charm Namibia 2026, Hertha lipinge's pageant journey continues to grow.

As she prepares for the international stage, the focus will be on how she represents Namibia, communicates her advocacy and competes alongside delegates from around the world. The crown is hers. The sash is ready. Now Namibia waits to see Hertha lipinge take the Miss Charm stage.

Stardom is always something that many models desire for it, it requires a lot of hard work to attain greatness. In simple words, it takes a lot to be the best among the rest. Vuyo Nkateko Mgiba is a self - driven and goal - oriented person who is purposely living her dreams to the maximum capacity. This gem hails all the way from Mpumalanga and she is doing grade 9 at Shabalala Secondary School. She is a gifted illustrator, cartoonist, poem writer, fashion designer, and professional.

Currently, she is reigning as Miss Pre-Teen Universe Mpumalanga. " The runway felt like a home to me, and I could feel it deep inside of me, I knew that I was destined to be a model. I find immense joy and fulfillment on the runway. I cannot trade modelling for anything else," she says. Besides modelling, she loves to do public speaking and dancing in her spare time.

How do you feel about being a model at a younger age?

I am so grateful to quickly discover my gift so early. I am destined and ordained to change the narrative of the story in the society that it is possible to make a huge impact before the age of 18. A girl from rural, Shabalala will be representing Mpumalanga on international platforms.

What is your life philosophy?

Spread love everywhere you go. Let no one ever come to you without leaving happier, being transformed and inspired.

The Spirit Of Boldness

From an early age, she showed a natural flair of modelling. Her craftwork speaks for itself that she was destined to be a model. At the age of 11, she was already on the runway and collecting plenty of awards from the competition. What an incredible individual! This early childhood awareness made our superstar model to take her career very seriously, and it set her on a path to success.

As a model guide magazine, we are super excited to feature a vibrant, self - driven, and ambitious girl who was brought up in a beautiful city of George, Western Cape. Allow me to introduce you to a remarkable individual who is making waves in the modelling industry, a world shaker and earth mover. Meet Christilene Mouton is a 16 year old girl who is a gifted dancer and motivational speaker. Currently, she is reigning as Miss Teen International

Western Cape.

What is the benefit of being a model?

Modelling is not about winning, getting crowns, and becoming famous. Modelling is all about grooming and transforming models to be effective leaders, faithful citizens, philanthropists, problem solvers, and self - discovery.

What challenges did you face on your journey to the top?

Success is not a matter of luck. It is an ability to manage challenges and resources like time. To be a student and be a model at the same time is not as easy as many people think of. I had to develop a robust routine to balance my school work and modelling career.

What kind of advice would you like to tell upcoming models?

Success is a rocky road, but it is achievable. Keep showing up each an everyday with a fresh mind and zeal. Keep moving forward. Do not accommodate any arrival-mentality thoughts in your head, there are vast opportunities that are waiting for you on top.

Last words

I strongly believe it is impossible to defeat an individual who does not give up too soon. I always encourage girls who wish to be in my position that they should be patient in life. Simply because success is a journey, not a destination. Some of the dreams take time to fully manifest into reality.

My Child

I named you Makanaka (beautiful), my child
Because wakanaka (you're beautiful) but you are wild
That contagious laughter which you carry into every room
And generosity with your spirit shall be your doom
Your beauty is a burden that is left untamed and will become a curse
You will break more hearts than you will bless

I know it is not your intention
You do not desire all this attention
Yet they all seek to fall at your feet in worship
They pursue you mistaking your smile for a relationship
Cameras seek your face, microphones demand your precious soul
Men will seek to own you, every knight will want to catch you when you fall.

Take heed Makanaka and be warned
A wild flower in full bloom cannot be owned
They will seek to pluck you from your roots and display you in a vase
Not understanding that flowering is nothing but a fleeting phase
It will be brief, but it will transform you from lonely flower to seed
A seed that will let you grow beyond the world's insatiable greed
When they are celebrating you, be wise to remember that Fame club has no permanent member

One day, they will mock you for not staying in full bloom
A day will come when a seed in you will save you from complete gloom
Today live, laugh and celebrate, knowing that when all has been said and done
The glitz and the glamour will one day be gone.
Even when you are old and forgotten,
My child(Makanaka), let your memories all be golden.

Dare To Be Different

as many people think. It takes resources, commitment, and hard work to produce outstanding work. Success cannot be attained by luck or an accident. It is all about taking action.

Tell me why do you love to be in front of the camera?

I am photogenic by nature because I love to capture every moment of my life for the future references. Also, it boosts my confidence and creativity as a model.

Words of wisdom

Be the girl who sets goals. Be the girl who values the truth. Be the girl who is a community builder and a positive role model to many people. Be yourself and dream big.

Written by Kudakwashe T Muganu

She is phenomenal, petite and powerful, one of the youngsters who have overtime defied the odds and made waves in the modelling industry. Recently, she is a finalist of Miss Devine Elegance 2026.

Aalisha Ratidzo machiwana is a 14 year - old - girl who is a professional model, gifted public speaker, dancer, and philanthropist. She strongly believes that God did not call her to be a celebrity but to help others who are in need and to mentor many children on how to discover their gifts that are hidden inside of them.

" I had a passion for beauty, excellence and leadership since I was young. Modelling was one of the best platforms that was going to turn my dreams into reality, " she clearly explained during the interview.

Being a model is not an easy road

Why are you afraid to be a Billionaire?

A friend of mine once told me he does not want to be a billionaire because he believes it would attract witches, haters, and thieves into his life. He imagines a life surrounded by fully armed bodyguards—no privacy, no freedom. In his view, you become a slave to your own wealth. From his perspective, money is a burden. Rather than pursuing his dreams, he chooses to live a modest life that demands little from him. He is not alone in this mentality; many people share these beliefs.

They strongly believe that wealthy people are always stressed, lack sleep, miss out on family time, and live in constant fear. The public often judges them, assuming they are involved in shady deals or rituals. Consider this: it is better to cry in a Lamborghini than on a bicycle. Whether you are rich or not, you will face challenges in life. While being wealthy and famous has its disadvantages, poverty is certainly not a recipe for happiness. One of the greatest financial setbacks is the fear of taking risks.

The truth is, big rewards usually come from big risks. By taking risks—I do not mean jumping into projects blindly—analyse and plan before you act. Take calculated moves. Basically, when someone fears wealth, they position themselves to play small to avoid achieving big results. In fact, the effort you invest in changing your financial situation speaks volumes about your courage.

I urge you to put in extra effort. Do not be afraid to become a Billionaire. The safer you play, the more you avoid investment and, ultimately, the more you avoid growth. Stop underestimating yourself. You were born to enjoy the goodness of life—you were born to be a Billionaire. You may not look like one now, but it is part of your destiny. I encourage you to change your perspective on money and start working toward financial freedom.

ROSEANNA HALL

MISS UNIVERSE ZIMBABWE 2026

From Shurugwi to the Miss Universe stage, Roseanna Hall's journey is one of experience, resilience and reinvention.

COVER STORY

There are crowns that mark the beginning of a journey — and there are crowns that represent the culmination of years of preparation. For Roseanna Hall, Miss Universe Zimbabwe 2026 is both.

The 34-year-old model and former pageant contestant stepped into a new chapter when she was crowned Miss Universe Zimbabwe 2026. But unlike a newcomer experiencing pageantry for the first time, Hall arrived with years of modelling, communication and pageant experience behind her.

Born in Shurugwi, Roseanna's relationship with pageantry began years before she became a national titleholder. Her journey included competing as a Miss Teen Zimbabwe finalist in 2010 and representing Zimbabwe at MNET Face of Africa. In 2017, she was crowned Miss Zimbabwe Diaspora. Years later, she returned to the Miss Universe Zimbabwe story — this time not simply as a contestant, but as a judge at the previous edition. Then came the unexpected twist. The judge became the contestant. And the contestant became the queen.

Hall's victory represents more than a glamorous moment on a national stage. It reflects a journey shaped by experience, education and personal development.

With a background that includes Psychology and Political Science, alongside experience in public relations and communications, Hall brings a multidimensional profile to the Miss Universe Zimbabwe title. Her story challenges the idea that pageantry has a single timeline. Sometimes the journey takes longer.

Sometimes experience becomes the greatest preparation.

And sometimes the woman who has already walked the pageant road returns with a completely different perspective.

“The judge became the contestant. And the contestant became the queen.”

The Miss Universe Zimbabwe crown comes with a responsibility that extends far beyond photographs, gowns and the stage.

Hall now carries the Zimbabwean sash into the international arena, where she will represent a country rich in culture, history and diversity.

Her reign has already included moments beyond traditional pageantry.

During a visit to Equatorial Guinea, Hall visited the Orfanato de Malabo and spent time with children at the orphanage. The experience offered a glimpse into the humanitarian dimension of her reign — one built around connection, compassion and service.

Back home, she has also been associated with initiatives supporting children and communities in need, including educational assistance and food donations in Shurugwi.

For Hall, the crown is therefore not simply about being seen.

It is also about being useful.

“The crown becomes a platform for human connection rather than simply a symbol of glamour.”

PREPARING FOR THE UNIVERSE

International pageantry demands preparation on every level.

Hall has begun working on her physical preparation, including fitness training with Michelina Chindiya, while continuing to develop the confidence, presentation and stage presence required for the Miss Universe platform.

But physical preparation is only one part of the equation.

The international stage demands communication, cultural awareness, confidence and the ability to tell a compelling story.

And Hall already understands the importance of storytelling.

Her story is Zimbabwean. Her journey is personal. Her platform is now international.

Roseanna Hall has embraced the identity of The Golden Rose — a name that perfectly captures the elegance and strength associated with her journey. But behind the glamour is a woman whose pageant story has unfolded over more than a decade. From a young finalist to an experienced model.

From Miss Zimbabwe Diaspora to pageant judge.

And finally, from contestant to Miss Universe Zimbabwe 2026.

Her journey is a reminder that there is no single timeline for success.

Some stories are written quickly.

Others take years to unfold.

Roseanna Hall's story has been years in the making.

Now, the world gets to watch the next chapter.

He discovered his calling when he was born - again. Besides being a musician, he is a seasoned footballer, sound Engineer, chef, evangelist, and an entrepreneur. "I believe that God gave me many gifts, and my goal is to share each gift to the world," he says.

He started his musical journey in 2007 whereby he formed a musical group with his agemates. It grew and expanded. It made him to be famous in his Primary school days. Along the long, he stopped music and started to pursue other dreams. When he looked back, he regretted for taking a long break in his musical career. It was a dreadful mistake, but it is never too late. This is what many youngersters are going through, they are giving up along the way due to financial constraints, lack of patience , or lack of mentorship.

Now, he is back with a huge force of revival. Currently, he is moving from city to city,ministering and doing the evangelism work. Usually, he is invited to sing at special occasions such as church conferences, birthday parties, school events, or weddings.

" My biggest achievement in my music career is not measured by the number of churches I ministered to, the numbers of the attendance, the numbers of the comments I constantly receive on my Social media handles. My humbling moments, it is the number of the testimonies I receive from the people after my ministration, it is about Jesus. My mission is to be a blessing in the kingdom of God," he says.

Lastly, Takudzwa leaves us with words of wisdom, and I quote, "Do what makes you happy even if others do not agree. And stay true to yourself. Never stop believing in your dreams"

ROSE Mandizha

Carrying Zimbabwe's Beauty, Pride and Ambition to Miss Global

Zimbabwe's pageantry story continues to expand onto the international stage, and Rose Chihera is stepping forward as one of the women carrying the nation's name beyond its borders.

Representing Zimbabwe at Miss Globe, Rose enters an international competition that brings together women from different countries and cultures, each with her own story, identity and aspirations. For Rose, the opportunity is about more than wearing a sash. It is about representing Zimbabwe with confidence and giving the country a presence on an international platform.

International pageantry demands more than beauty. Today's contestants are expected to demonstrate confidence, communication skills, cultural awareness and the ability to connect with people beyond their own communities.

Rose's participation at Miss Globe places her in that increasingly diverse world of international pageantry, where every appearance becomes an opportunity to introduce audiences to her country.

There is a special responsibility that comes with representing Zimbabwe internationally.

From the country's rich cultural heritage to its people, creativity and traditions, a Zimbabwean queen carries many stories with her when she steps onto the international stage.

For Rose, the Zimbabwe sash becomes a symbol of that connection.

Every photograph, interview, appearance and competition moment gives her an opportunity to showcase a different side of Zimbabwe while allowing international audiences to discover the woman behind the sash.

"The crown is personal, but the journey represents something bigger."

Pageantry has evolved significantly. The modern queen is not defined solely by her appearance. Confidence, authenticity and the ability to communicate have become equally important.

Rose's Miss Globe journey provides an opportunity to demonstrate that contemporary Zimbabwean beauty is multifaceted — confident, ambitious and capable of connecting with audiences across cultures.

For every international contestant, the journey begins long before the final night. There are preparations, fittings, photographs, interviews, appearances and countless moments that require discipline and commitment. For Rose, the road to Miss Globe is therefore a journey of preparation as much as competition. It is a chance to grow personally, strengthen her presence and represent Zimbabwe with pride.

International pageants create an important platform for cultural exchange. When Rose walks into the Miss Globe arena wearing the Zimbabwe sash, she does not arrive simply as another contestant. She becomes part of Zimbabwe's continuing story in international pageantry.

Her journey will be followed by supporters at home and pageant enthusiasts across the region, all watching as she takes her place among contestants from around the world.

Rose Chihera's Miss Globe journey is a celebration of representation, ambition and the confidence to take Zimbabwe to the world.

As she prepares to compete, one thing remains clear: her journey is bigger than a crown. It is about embracing the opportunity, telling her story and proudly carrying the Zimbabwean identity onto the international stage.
